

10-Day Teambuilding Activity Calendar (Remote Edition)

Are you ready to get to know your team in new and interesting ways? Over the next two weeks, you will use this ridiculously simple and surprisingly fun calendar to inject positivity and energy into your team. It is designed to work even when sticky notes and pens are the only items allowed in your budget. Let your team know that a) you recognize that life/work has been a bit heavy lately, b) it's time to have a little fun, or c) you'd like to get to know each other better. Share the calendar with your team and ask if they're willing to try it out with you.

This calendar is best wielded by the manager, the keeper of all team happiness, or an extra chipper teammate. This works best when everyone participates every day. No exceptions. We hope you enjoy the activities!

MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY
1. TikTok Surprise Schedule a team movie meeting—30 minutes or less. Ask everyone to bring 3 “office friendly” video clips (30 seconds or less) that bring them joy. Share round robin style: one person shares 1 video, then passes to the next person.	2. Disney Made Me Do It Which Disney character would you go on a crime spree with?	3. Fond Memories Share a photo of something or someone you care about.	4. You are Awesome Throughout the day, message every person on the team with one word that describes a positive quality that you've witnessed in them. By the end of the day, each person should have a list of shining qualities that they can be proud of.	5. Friday Funstorm Collect a brainstorm of ideas for the weekend and share them with the team. Vote on the best idea.
6. Photo Challenge Send in photos of something fun or interesting you did over the weekend. Allow the team to vote on the best photo. That person wins a gift card or small prize.	7. 100 Uses For... Get ready to spark creativity. During the next team meeting, give everyone 5 minutes to come up with 100 uses for an object of your choosing. Try to pick something relevant to your industry or meeting agenda.	8. Memes R Us Share silly “office friendly” memes with the group.	9. Words of Encouragement Share your favorite quote with the group.	10. Always / Never Claim your team identity. Have a quick conversation to fill in the blanks. “This team should always be....” “This team should never be....” How can we keep the fun going?
